Dear Tom,

I wanted to take a moment to thank you for the session I attended recently. It was a great benefit to me and my business. I am looking forward to the remaining workshops.

The workshop efficiently got me to consider important and essential issues in a comfortable and friendly environment. I particularly enjoyed the time spent on self reflection and goal setting. I was able to consider things like family, relaxation, and delegation and put them all in perspective with the demands of creating and growing a business venture.

The program has reminded me that planning my life is just as important as planning my business strategies. Your workshop taught me the importance of balance within my life, and the results have generated increased success and generous rewards in my business and personal life.

I have certainly experienced the value of your program and would be proud to refer you and The Growth Coach program to my business associates. Whether they are entrepreneurs or part of a corporation's infrastructure, they will certainly find value in your program.

Thank you for all your assistance. It has made a significant impact on my business and on my life.

Sincerely,

Kevin D. Sisney
